“I think Nativity shaped us not only for those years on Lawtons Hill, but also for the rest of our lives. When I think about Nativity, I believe we were blessed to receive a Catholic education that encouraged us to serve a higher purpose than our own self interests. What Nativity did best was encourage and assist us in learning how to reason, believe and think so that we were equipped to find success and meaning in life.”

- Sean MacCready, '00 Nativity Graduate

“When I transferred to Saint Clair Catholic Elementary School in seventh grade, I wanted to continue my Catholic education at Nativity, despite the considerable financial sacrifices on the horizon. Those sacrifices were worth the quality of formation that Nativity would offer. (Since I first learned of the term “formation” in the seminary, I have preferred it for its comprehensive nature: spiritual, intellectual, athletic, artistic, interpersonal, and emotional.) Spoiled with two years of daily religion class, regular access to Mass and Reconciliation, and an intimate, caring atmosphere at St. Clair Catholic, Nativity seemed the best option for me.”

- Fr. Christopher M. Zelonis, '94 Nativity Graduate

“Nativity has given me a strong academic background which allowed me to pursue my dream of being a physician, attending medical school, obtaining the general surgery residency of my choice and becoming a general surgeon. It provided me the opportunity to participate in a variety of sports, where I learned the value of being a team player, which is necessary as a surgeon participating in the complicated care of patients. Nativity provided many challenges to me, encouraging me to never give up when adversity occurs and to always strive for my goals.”

- Aislinn Scarbinsky, '96 Nativity Graduate

“As I approach retirement this year, I happily & proudly say that Nativity gave me my foundation to succeed at college, but more important help to make me the educator & man I am today. If I had gone to public school then, I honestly believe I would have not attended college & certainly would not have been a teacher for the last 34 years. I owe Nativity and East Stroudsburg University my foundation and that provided the knowledge and values that brought the best out in me. I can really never repay both those schools, and the professionals that worked in both of these institutions, that have contributed so much to my success. Nativity will always be number ONE in my heart.

- Maury Molin, M.J.M., '72 Nativity Graduate

“As I came to experience more across the world, I would often at first worry if someone like me from a small Catholic high school could keep up. But by relying on the lessons of self-discipline and confidence in myself, I have come to learn that someone who graduates from Nativity can be successful anywhere in the world.”

- Steve Lucas, '92 Nativity Graduate
